Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 12/21/2005 has been entered.

Remarks

2. It is noted that applicant's provisional election was made to prosecute the invention of second embodiment only (see Office Action mailed 10/15/2004). However, the features of nonvolatile memory recited in amended claim 1 are directed from first embodiment of the non-elected invention and in combination with second embodiment of the elected invention. Therefore, the amendment introduces new matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The amended claim 1 recites the limitations "the nonvolatile memory includes a first area for storing compressed character and figure data and the program data, a second area for storing decompressed character and figure data, and a third area for storing identification information, and wherein the compressed character and figure data stored in the first area of the nonvolatile memory are decompressed expanded in the second area of the nonvolatile memory, and stored in the volatile memory at the time of initially starting the receiver” in lines 7-16.

However, nowhere in the original specification describes the above limitations. In fact, the specification only describes the features of first embodiment and second embodiment separately. In other words, nowhere in the original specification discloses the combined features of first embodiment and second embodiment of the invention as recited in claim 1.

Therefore, claim 1 contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.
